

DON'T BOTTLE IT, BORIS.

In 2018 the UK Government said it would introduce a deposit return system for drinks containers, and yet we are still waiting.

In 2019 over 8 BILLION bottles and cans were wasted in the UK, ending up as litter, landfill or pollution.

A deposit return scheme will change that, ensuring over 90% of bottles and cans are collected, reused or recycled. That's good news for consumers, industry and wildlife. But it needs to be comprehensive, simple and consistent to work – it must include plastic, aluminium and glass, and cover all sizes of containers.

We are calling on Boris to get a grip on our waste crisis, and deliver on deposit return.
